Our Support Principles

Celgene operates under the highest ethical standards and in full compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and guidelines. Any funding awarded is provided wholly without obligation to purchase, use, recommend, or arrange for the use of any product of Celgene or its affiliates, or on any business or other decisions you have made or may make in the future relating to Celgene, its affiliates or to Celgene's products.

All support provided by Celgene will be publicly declared in accordance with our industry Codes of Practice and local regulations. Any such support requested from Celgene which is approved must be reasonable, modest and in proportion to the scale and scope of the recipient institution and must be likely to appear so to independent third parties.

Successful applicants will be required to sign a written agreement, which includes the commitment of the recipient to declare the receipt of funding from Celgene.

Funding will not be provided to organisations or events that are profit making.

Payments

Celgene will not make payment directly to an individual. Any funding awarded must be paid to an established institution such as an NHS trust, hospital or clinic for which the applicant works.

Types of Support

Celgene defines funding requests into certain categories which can differ from the terminology used by requesting organisations. To avoid delays in reviewing a funding application, it is important that requestors understand Celgene's categories as described below. To apply for funding from Celgene, please click below to determine which type of support may be appropriate based on the nature of the request:

You have reached the funding request page for Medical Affairs Grants.

The Celgene Funding Request Application consists of four main sections, each of which must be completed for your request to be considered.

1. Contact information pertaining to you as a representative for your organization.
2. Information pertaining to your organization and partner organizations (if any).
3. The Request your organization is submitting for approval and attachments.
4. Certifications and submission of your request.

Once received, you may be contacted seeking additional information from Celgene. Timely responses to such requests are essential to the review process. Requests are typically reviewed within 45-60 days, but may take longer depending on complexity and the timeliness of responses to request for information.

We recommend that you familiarize yourself with the online application. To create a new application, click the “Start a New Application” link at the bottom of this page. You may also save your applications now and return to work on them later. To continue work on an unsubmitted application, click the “Continue” link next to the application’s Project Title. To view an application previously submitted to Celgene, click the “View” link next to the appropriate Project Title.

Each page will have a timeline like the one below to help you monitor your progress. The line and text will indicate your current position within the application process. If you have technical questions regarding this application, use the link located at the bottom of every page to contact our support team.
